NEWS OF SOUTH RICHMOND

RAIN DETERS VISITORS

Chesterfield Fair Closed Yesterday, With Small Attendance.

A drizzling rain, which continued without let up all day, kept many from attending the county fair at Chesterfield Courthouse, which closed yesterday. Those who went, however, were repaid for their trouble, for the exhibits this year were well worth seeing. The displays of live stock, horses and agricultural and horticultural products are said to have been the finest ever shown in the county. Despite the weather conditions yesterday, which broke up the athletic events scheduled, the directors of the association said that the fair has been very successful and has been especially helpful to the farmers. New ideas have been gained in the improved methods of farming and stock raising, which will be used to advantage during the coming year.

IMPROVE CAR SERVICE

Company Will Soon Have Large Cars On Hull Street Line.

As a result of untiring effort by the members of the South Richmond and Chesterfield Business Men's Association and the South Richmond Democratic Club, the street car service on the Hull Street and Forest Hill lines has been greatly improved. The Administrative Board has been asked to complete the approaches at each end of the New Mayo Bridge, in order that large double truck cars may be run on at least one of the lines. These cars are expected to be in operation very shortly, as tracks on the bridge have already been laid. There was much complaint recently of the congestion caused by the insufficient number of cars in use on the Hull Street line in the early morning at Thirty-first Street. C. B. Anderson, who was chairman of a committee appointed by the Democratic Club to investigate the conditions, now says the service is greatly improved. Practically all the necessary work has been completed on the new upper Hull Street line, and it is soon expected to be opened. All the tracks and trolley wires have been installed.

Rev. Mr. Smith Accepts Call. Rev. E. T. Smith, of Abbeville, Ala., who was recently extended a call to the pastorate of Weatherford Memorial Baptist Church, has decided to accept, according to an announcement made yesterday. He will begin his new duties on November 15. Mr. Smith is a native of Virginia, having graduated from Richmond College. He is said to be an excellent speaker, and has successfully filled his former charges.

To Bonds for Theft. John Mayo, alias Oscar Hill, was sent to the roads for six months by Justice Maurice yesterday in Police Court, Part II, on the charge of stealing a quantity of brass from engines and other machinery. When arrested by Policemen Waymack and Baughman, Mayo had a large basket filled with brass connections, which he is believed to have stolen from E. L. De Riemer, who recently reported the theft of some brass valves at $34. The stolen goods were located at a pawn shop.

Additional witnesses have been secured by the Commonwealth to testify that Wilson bought the drug with which he said he was going to kill a horse.

An enjoyable evening was spent by the Baracas of Stockton Street Baptist Church last night at 715 Perry Street, when the Junior class entertained in honor of the class of Mrs. Kirkland. The Baptist Young People's Union of Woodland Heights Baptist Church held a peanut social last night in the church. The meeting was well attended.

Services at Woodland Heights. Services will be held to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock for the members of the Woodland Heights Methodist Church in the home of Rev. A. C. Berryman, 315 East Thirty-first Street. Rev. Henry C. Pfeiffer will preach the sermon. Since the church has considerably enlarged its membership, and soon expects to have a building in which to hold regular services.

No Quorum at League Meeting. Owing to the inclement weather, not enough members of the executive committee of the South Richmond Educational League were present at the meeting last night in the Powhatan School to form a quorum, and no real business could be taken up. A mass-meeting of the league will be held on Friday, November 15, and a speaker connected with educational work will be engaged to deliver an address.

CLOSER RELATIONS IS ROOSEVELT PLEA

Colonel Delivers Address Before President of Brazil and Distinguished Audience.

[Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.] Rio de Janeiro, October 24.—Colonel Roosevelt was given an enthusiastic reception to-night in the government university assembly room, where he delivered an address before the President of Brazil, members of the Cabinet, the diplomatic corps and a large number of army and navy officers. A large number of women were present. Colonel Roosevelt's address was a plea for closer relations between the nations of the American continent and for the maintenance and defense of the Monroe Doctrine. The Panama Canal, he declared, would bring the nations of North and South America into much closer contact commercially, and the benefits from these closer commercial relations would accrue mainly to the South American nations. To get the greatest benefit from these commercial intercourse, "Col. Roosevelt said, "the confidence of this continent must inspire confidence in one another. Senior Galvo, on behalf of the university, replied to Colonel Roosevelt's address, welcoming him as the guest of the university and presenting him with a diploma of membership in the university. The ceremony was presided over by the Brazilian flag, decorated with the Stars and Stripes.

MONUMENT METHODIST CHURCH

OLD PASTORS WILL DEDICATE CHURCH

Monument Methodist Congregation Will Occupy Its New Home To-Morrow.

HANDSOME AND IMPOSING BUT DEATH IS VERY NEAR

Present Structure Stands as Record of Great Expansion in West End.

REV. H. H. POTTS.

Impressive dedicatory exercises, in which several former pastors will take part, will mark the formal opening of Monument Methodist Church to-morrow morning. The handsome new structure, located at the corner of Park and Allen avenues, has just been completed, and is one of the most complete in the city.

Two services will be held. Rev. L. T. Williams, under whose pastorate the new edifice was begun, will preach in the morning, and Rev. H. H. Bennett at night. Rev. P. H. Potts, the present pastor, will have charge of the ritualistic service, and an excellent musical program will be rendered by the church quartet, under the direction of Percy Tracy, organist.

The church is the only Methodist house of worship west of Lombardy and north of Main Street, and was built by the congregation of the old Asbury Methodist Church, when it was seen that the building was entirely too small for its needs. It has a beautiful location, and is a masterpiece of architecture.

The interior is artistically finished in white, with mahogany furnishings, and a $10,000 pipe organ has been installed. The Sunday school room has been occupied for some time, but the auditorium will be used for the first time to-morrow.

The history of Monument Methodist Church is one of a steady expansion. It started with a small Sunday school on Taylor Street about twenty-five years ago. Out of this grew the Washington Street M. E. Church at Washington and Cary Streets. Again the expansion demanded greater facilities, and the location was changed to the corner of Lombardy Street and Hanover Avenue. The church became known as the Asbury, and was located at Asbury Place. Now at last the congregation has erected a building which stands on one of the most prominent corners in the city, in the best residential district and overlooking the Lee Monument, and is large enough to meet the needs for many years.

Since the first church was organized, it has had nine pastors—Rev. R. H. Bennett, Dr. W. Asbury Christian, Rev. R. M. Beckham, Rev. R. M. Maxey, Rev. R. M. Dev, Rev. Charles H. McGhee, Rev. George H. McFadden, Rev. L. T. Williams and the present pastor, Rev. H. H. Potts. The new building was started during the pastorate of Rev. L. T. Williams, but his four years of service expired before its completion. Mr. Potts, his successor, ably carried on the work, and with the help of his congregation, has met with phenomenal success. The close of the conference year finds the church in the best condition, spiritually, numerically and financially.

Repairs Made on County Jail. Iron work in and around the Henrico County Jail is being repaired and painted, while the "Bridge of Sighs" between the jail and the court-room is being completely renovated. The iron will be given a coat of red paint, and the concrete and stone will be covered by several coats of dark green.

Mr. Braxton to Return for Work. A. Caperton Braxton, now at Atlantic City, will return to Richmond the first of the year and will again actively engage in the practice of his profession. Friends who recently visited Mr. Braxton at Atlantic City report that he is rapidly regaining his health and strength, and that his vacation has done him a world of good.

POWER COMPANY TO PAY BRIDGE TOLLS

Board Sets Conference for November 10 to Decide Upon Charge.

The Administrative Board, yesterday set November 10 for a special hearing upon the question of the toll to be charged the Virginia Railway and Power Company for the use of the street car tracks over the new Mayo Bridge. The conference will be attended by representatives of the city departments affected and officials of the power company.

Acting Auditor Crenshaw, carrying out instructions received early this week from the board, has submitted three tentative plans for levying the toll. He was instructed to report on a suitable charge based on the value of the bridge. The plan will be submitted for examination at the conference. The toll arrangement is a matter of the last importance and its solution promises a lively diplomatic interchange between the power company and the board.

An order entered yesterday permits the Virginia Railway and Power Company to proceed with the installation of trolley lines across the bridge.

City Attorney Pollard reported that the necessary property for the widening of Cary Street from Temple Street westward to Addison Street, has been acquired by an order entered this week in the Hustings Court in the case of the city of Richmond against L. J. Shoemaker et al., and that the city may now proceed with the removal of encroachments.

The improvement affected by the decree is complete except for the removal of encroachments encroaching upon the sidewalks. Cary Street, between the two points named—a distance of eight blocks—has been widened to sixty feet and paved with granite spalls. Commissioners appointed by the court awarded upwards of $5,000 to fifty-five property owners whose holdings were cut into by the widening of the street. It is stated, will litigate the matter. The court decree directs that the house of Hannah M. Anderson shall be allowed to encroach six inches, and the house of Martin Z. Franklin shall be allowed to encroach six inches, and the sidewalk. When either of the houses is destroyed or pulled down, the decree provides, the encroachments shall be surrendered to the city as part of the street. The City Engineer was directed by the board to notify property owners to remove at once all encroachments not provided for in the court's order.

New Improvements. A contract was awarded yesterday by the board to Charles Gasser for granite sidewalk paving on the north side of Main Street, between Rowland and Sycamore Streets, at 94 cents a square yard.

Maynard for new brick sidewalk paving as follows: West side of St. James Street, between Leigh and Jackson Streets, at 71 cents a square yard.

North side of Leigh Street, between Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Streets, at 69 cents a square yard.

East side of Twenty-ninth Street, between Leigh and M. Streets, at 69 cents a square yard.

West side of Twenty-seventh Street, between Q and R Streets, at 72 cents a square yard.

TRIAL OF BEILISS WEARIES COURT

Long, Tedious, Daily Sessions Cause Display of Considerable Apathy.

[Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.] Kieff, October 24.—While the public interest in the trial of Mendel Beiliss for "ritual murder" is greater than at any time since the trial opened, the judges, jurors and counsel are beginning to display considerable apathy.

In the public mind, the case has developed into a trial of Vera Cherbryak, and Beiliss has fallen into the background. The testimony of Attorney Margolin, who was associated with Krasovsky and Brushovsky in the investigation of the killing of the Yushinsky boy, proved a disappointment. Many of which have extended until midnight during the past fortnight. The testimony of Judge Krasovsky, who was associated with Krasovsky and Brushovsky in the investigation of the killing of the Yushinsky boy, proved a disappointment. Many of which have extended until midnight during the past fortnight. The testimony of Judge Krasovsky, who was associated with Krasovsky and Brushovsky in the investigation of the killing of the Yushinsky boy, proved a disappointment. Many of which have extended until midnight during the past fortnight.

Vera Cherbryak was responsible for a disturbance in court to-day. A young married woman, named Cherbryak, a friend of the Diakonoff sisters, who was waiting to testify, interrupted the proceedings by crying out that the Cherbryak woman was shaking her fist at her and telling her "To go on the streets." The woman protested that this was an insult to a respectable matron, and the president of the court allowed her to change her seat in the courtroom. Late in the day two members of the secret police gave important testimony which completely confirmed the testimony of Krasovsky. The witnesses told how by pretending to be anxious to protect a girl, they learned from Singavevsky that he had been present in Vera's house when she killed the Yushinsky boy in the Cherbryak house.

Judge E. H. Gary, president of the institute, presided as toastmaster. "The case is a period of marked transition," said Mr. Robinson. "No people ever have been so well fed, so well housed, nor enjoyed such high social standard and unexcelled for agitation and attack."

"In spite of this, our institutions and our methods are being attacked. In assistance on change extends much deeper than mere political expediency." Judge Gary, in an address at to-day's meeting, declared that the stability of business has been interfered with, and the confidence of capital shaken by "unreasonable and uncalled for agitation and attack."

"The case is too much demagoguery too much mud-slinging," he declared. "The man out of office criticizes the man in office, and the man in office, in turn, seeks to advance his own interests, regardless of the effect upon all others. Appeals are made for the purpose of creating a feeling of dissatisfaction and unrest, when this is unnecessary and unjustified."

"Capital always timid, has been seriously affected by this unreasonable and uncalled for agitation and attack. Indeed, it is becoming frightened."

THE OTHER SIDE

Fair-minded business men recognize the fact that there are two sides to every question. Attention has been indirectly called to the Maryland Tri-State Business Directory, to be issued early in 1914. We are gratified to see that our proposed publication is considered a dangerous competitor. Does that not speak well for its good qualities. Our Directory is not a State, but a Tri-State Directory. It is unique and will do what has not yet been done by any directory in the South. It is at that attractive price we are securing subscriptions in all the cities and towns of more than 1,000 population in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia, thus giving wide circulation to the business directories of the cities, which are, of course, a part of the book.

In this way the Directory of Richmond will be scattered over three States, where it has never before been seen. We believe the business men of Richmond will co-operate with us when we thus benefit them by housing Richmond through this publicity. The subscription price is only $2, and the advertising rates very reasonable. We only ask that our representative be given a fair hearing.
